In the first place it is contended that the Republican party are aiming at and desire a disso-lution of the Union, or a severence of the ties that bind the North to the South. We are charged with favoring aggressive measures, and laboring to insult the people of the Southern States. No facts are presented to sustain the various assertions that are heaped one upon anther day after day, in support of these darges; and pro-slavery writers, if they are capable of comprehending the meaning of language, must be aware of the fact that the people of Ohio do not in the least degree favor agreesion upon the Southern States. The plant gression upon the Southern States. The plat-form adopted by the American Convention at Cleveland and the resolutions passed by the Columbus Convention are plain enough on this

The position of the Anti-Nebraska party is clearly stated to be non-interference with constitutional rights of the South, but united and determined oppo-ition to the further extension of slavery. This is our platform, and it is upon this, so far as regards the slavery question, that the battle must be fought.—Cincinnati Ga-

The entire press in the Northern States that favor the new Abolition party, which has lately | South. assumed the name of "Republican," abound with passages like this taken from the Gazette. At the logic of this party Southern men are ly done: amazed, and are at a loss whether to attribute their strange proposition to cool impudence or ignorant simplicity-we beg pardon if the terms are harsh. This Cincinnati editor, for instance, tells the South with all the apparent earnestness of one who thinks himself vindicating truth and justice, that the anti-Nebraska party do not intend to interfere with the Constitutional rights of the South, but is determined that slavery shall not be extended over any more territory. It seems that this party entirely ignores any Constitutional right of the South to any participation in territory that may have been or that hereafter may be muired by the United States, no matter how ern blood or Southern treasure may be used to acquire it, yet, when it shall have been obtained, it must all be for the use and benefit of the people of the North. It is a libel on the justice and the intelligence of the framers of the Constitution to charge them with having framed a constitution and inaugurated a government capable of perpetrating a wrong so vile, or of sanctioning a principle so palpably unjust. A government, based upon a principle so unjust, so unequal in its operation, so injurious to a large portion of its own people, could not long exist, for the reason that it would not be worth preserving.

The people of the South hold that it would be an outrageous and insufferable violation of their Constitutional rights for the people of the North to deny admission to a State into the Union to deny admission to a State into the Union cians as a most practicable and imminent conbecause it applied for admission with a constitution recognizing slavery. And it is mere mockery, the veriest trifling, for the editors of the Freesoil press to assert that such a course would not be, in spirit and in substance, an interference with the constitutional rights of the South. In the absence of any restriction in the Constitution of the right to make or admit slave States, the right exists in Congress, for the Con-Antion confers on Congress the right to admit new States, without any qualification as to whether they shall be free or slave States. Congress has no other power than merely to admit or exclude a State that asks to be admitted. There is nothing in the Constitution of the United States which gives to Congress the right to legislate as to what shall or shall not be property. Property, its rights, its duties, its description, and its liabilities, are all placed under the control and jurisdiction of the local governments. This is just as true of the territories as it is of the States, and no one questions the correctness of the proposition as to the States.

We presume that every one will admit that there is no power given by the Constitution to Congress to compel a territory to form itself into a State, adopt a constitution, and apply for admission. A territory may remain outside of the Union for one or for one hundred years, as its people shall elect. But the people must of necessity have a government during that time. and there is nothing to prevent them from forming one to suit their own views. In framing that government, the people will of course have the right to settle all questions and make all laws relating to property, defining what shall be property, and how it shall be held; and if in the exercise of that right they choose to establish property in slaves, they have the unquestionable right to do so. After they have done this, they have the right to ask for admission into the hed exercised an undoubted right, would be under, and contrary to the spirit of the Constitution. The practical and successful exercise of the power of the free States to prevent the

The New York Courier & Enquirer has a calm and dispassionate article upon the restoration of the Missouri compromise. That paper seems to suppose that even the next Congress may restore it. There is supposed to be a majority for it in the House, and the New York editor suggests that Senators Pugh of Ohio, Clayton of Delaware, Dodge of Wisconsin, Stewart of Michigan, Crittenden of Kentucky of North Carolina, and Pierce of Maryland may vote in favor of it. Mr. Crittenden deprecated the repeal of the Missouri compromise, but we do not believe that he will go for the restoration, inasmuch as this would involve a breach of national faith toward the settlers in Kansas and Nebraska. We do not think there is a possibility of the next Senate's agreeing to the restoration, and, even if such a bill were to be passed by both houses, it would certainly be arrested by the veto of President Pierce, whose hopes are all centered in the South.

In our opinion, the restoration of the Missouri compromise would, in its application to Kansas and Nebraska, be wrong, palpably wrong. Congress preclaimed last year to all who might go to Kansas and Nebraska, that they should have the right to decide by their own votes the question of slavery there. Under that assurance, many thousands of her sons have gone there, and now to deny them the right which Congress guaranteed to them would, in our view, be perfidy and dishonor. Still we do not believe that the South should or would make the mere res toration of the compromise an occasion for the dissolution of the Union. If Kansas ask to be admitted into the Union as a slave State, and if Congress refuse to admit her as such, she can remain a territory for even an indefinite number of years without any very material damage to her own actual interests or the interests of the

[For the Louisville Bulletin.] SONG OF THE GAS-LIGHT.

BY LAMPLIGHTER. Silentiy, patiently, all the night long, Brightly I lighten the way of the throng: Many the sights I see; Many the de.ds that be Witnessed by only me, Fearful and wrong.

Regal magnificence, splend r and show, Beggarly indigence, sorrow and wee, Crime and its votaries. Love and its costacies, Fame and its devotees Under me go.

Into the bail-room so mirthful and gsy, Into the hovel where revels decay, Into the feion's cell, Into the gambling heii— Wherever man may dwell Cast I my ray.

Mantied in beanty, the maid sinks to rest, Placid her features and tranquii her breast Fanned by the sephyr's wlng, Breathing the sweets they bring. Lulled by the lay they sing, Happy and blest.

Biack as the plaions of midulght her hair Waves over temple and shoulder, and there Nestles her hand of snow, Rippies her bosom's flow-There is whate'er we know Fanitiess and fair

Parest and leveliest and best of thy race Into thy chamber, that sanctified piace, Raptured, I fondly gaze, Klasing thee with my rays, Biessing each smile that plays Over thy face!

That the Union will be destroyed we do not of sense can regard as within the compass of probability. We are free to confess that if interested and dishonest agitators could have realized their predictions, the federal bands that bind us in political unity, and constitute us one people, would have been severed long since. But the menaces and machinations of the whole crew of miserable demagogues who have habitually swaggered and declaimed about dissolving the relations of the States, as if the issue were absolutely within their control, have hitherto utterly failed, and they will continue to fail .- Albany Register.

We earnestly trust that the Union will not be dissolved, but our trust rests upon the hope that the Northern men will not be guilty of the outrages that some of them contemplate. If an abolition or freesoil party in the North, obtain ing the control in Congress, were to abolish slavery in the District of Columbia, to exclude slavery from all the territories, to enact that slavery should never be extended over another foot of ground, to repeal the fugitive slave law, to proclaim that no slave, after touching the soil of a free State, should ever be restored to his owner, and to adopt every possible means of insulting and harrassing and injuring the South, does any dispassionate man believe that the union of the States would not be dissolved?

having gay and glorious times at Niagara. Those beautiful and magnificent hotels, the Cataract and International, on the American side, and the Clifton on the Canada side, are all thronged with delighted visitors.

We intend to make a visit to the Mammoth Cave, and then we hope to be off for the Clifton House, where some of the pleasantest days of our life have been spent. Ah, it is bliss even to imagine ourselves there, enjoying the luxuries ion both of medical men and others is that the of as fine a table as ever was set, enjoying nightly the music and the dance, wandering their extraordinary curative powers. We un-Union; and to refuse them merely because they over the beautiful grounds starred with millions derstand that there is scarcely a chronic disof flowers, feeling the breath of the fresh cool breezes upon our brow, gazing upon the mighty ly mitigate. torrent enveloped in sprays and crowned with rainbows, and hearing even in our sleeping admission of any more slave States would surely dreams the hoarse thunders of the cataract .result sooner or later in the dissolution of the At the Clifton House the fervor of the summer is never felt.

KENTUCKY HONTICULTURAL SOCIETY .- The devotees of Pomona are becoming quite successful in their efforts to render the offerings from the fruit garden and orchard prominent attractions among the articles of beauty and interest which lend such resistless charms to the Socie ty's weekly displays, and which were crowded in on Saturday last in such profusion as to elbow each other throughout the whole length and breadth of the Society's extended tables.

Apples, which, as we have heretofore remark ed, have for some weeks been fine in the extreme, were no less so on Saturday; and some of the pears, then first appearing for the season, were splendid. We scarcely consider Bartlett, with its sca: let cheek, more beautiful than Tyson or than another fine-looking pear exhibited under the local name of "Bell Pear." This latter variety is a roundish, bergamot-shaped fruit of good size and well tasted-and beautiful besides.

On Saturday Rostiezer & Tyson, which close the list of summer fruits recommended for general cultivation by the National Pom logical Society, first made their appearance. They are both excellent fruits, and will speedily win their way into general favor. The other summer varieties recommended by the National Society which have been exhibited here this season are Madeline, Bloodgood, and Dearborn's Seedling, each of which has been well esteemed by the fruit committee and received with much favor by crowds of examining visitors, circumstances calculated to do credit to the judgment of that very respectable body of intelligent and publicspirited cultivators who constitute the National Society.

Plums were exhibited in great variety, but except Bolmar's Washington, Jefferson and Duanes Purple we noticed nothing very fine.

Peaches will continue to improve both in size and appearance for some weeks yet to come until the later sorts begin to ripen. Among the best exhibited on Saturday, we would reckon Cole's Early Red, Crawford's Early, and a fine cling introduced into this vicinity by Wm. H. Pope, Esq. By the bye, Crawford's Early is some days in advance of its season, and was exhibited by a single cultivator whose trees are grown upon a sandy soil. The fruits, however, were very handsome and were evidently grown upon vigorous trees, though somewhat too hard to eat well.

We noticed, on the table, cantelopes and watermelons in considerable quantities, which were very good looking. We observed too some very fine specimens of figs and of foreign grapes.

Flowers, we regretted to see, have become very scarce. Midsummer heat and the state of the weather which, although it does not amount to a drought, is yet very dry, has reduced quite low the stock of roses outside the greenhouse, and has cut short that luxurious bloom which usually crowns the efforts of the cultivator of the hardy annual flowers.

The conduct of the Washington Union, the New York Tribune, and some other papers in publishing everything written by Mr. J. B. Clay in his late quarrel with us and giving only two or three sentences from what was written man detected and exposed in an att mpt to steal. He is the knave who undertook to abstract a good many thousands of dollars from the U.S. treasury upon an absurd and miserable semblance of a pretext which every member of a House of Representatives containing an overwhelming majority of his own political friends united in pronouncing a fraud and a humbug.

The editor of the Democrat thinks that we are lacking in veneration for Henry Clay because we do not coincide in each and every opinion ever expressed by him. The editor even quotes upon us the words of Christ-"If a man love me he will keep my words; he that loveth not me keepeth not my sayings." Much as we venerate the memory of Henry Clay, our soul is our own. The sentiments of the Democrat are worthy only of the heart and tongue of a bondsman.

GRAYSON SPRINGS .- Most of the old wa tering places in Kentucky are closed, but the Grayson Springs, so long a favorite resort of thousands of the ladies and gentlemen of Kentucky, are open. We are informed that the fine hotel there is doing a greater business than it has ever done before. And indeed the at-NIAGARA FALLS .- We learn that they are tractions, according to our information, are increased and multiplied. The Messrs. Clarkson, the noble and generous proprietors of the establishment, have now perfected the arrangements that they have long been contemplating. They have one of the most excellent bands of music to be found anywhere.

To invalids not less than to seekers after pleasure, Grayson : prings have always been a favorite retreat. The almost universal opinwaters surpass all others in the United States in ease which they do not either cure or essential-

The Grayson Springs are but twenty miles from the Mammoth Cave. We advise all, who go to one of these delightful resorts, to go to both. Only three or four hours are required for passing from one to the other.

THE MAMMOTH CAVE. - As the elections are | Carpeting! Carpeting! at Bent & Duvall's, now over, the best advice that we can give to our friends is to make their escape from the city and find a cool and delicious retreat at the Mammoth Cave. The many who have been there during the present season bear witness that it is the most charming resort to be found anywhere in all this Western country. It combines all the attractions that could possibly be desired for a summer sojourn-to say nothing of the master attraction of one of the two greatest and most wondrous curiosities of our globe.

Fellow-citizens, take the fine stage line of Messrs. Carter & Thomas, and in one day you will find yourselves safely landed at the Cave. Go prepared to make a long stay, for you cannot zome away without reluctance. Do not on any account take your own vehicles, for it would impose upon you much trouble and great expense of time and money.

[For the Louisville Bulletin.] CLAY MONUMENT.

MR. EDITOR:-In common with every intelligent man and warm admirer of the genius, worth, and services of our illustrious Henry Clay, I have felt, from the first moment it was proposed, a lively interest in his monument. Nothing doubting the patriotism and zeal with which it would be prosecuted, I must confess I felt a painful degree of anxiety as to the shape it would take, amid the conflicting tastes, hu-mors, and interests which would be awakened in its progress; and have carefully read nearly every thing, I believe, which has been published on the subject. You can readily understand that this anxiety has not been abated one whit by what you say in your paper of the 2nd inst. Hoping almost against hope that I may be able to shed one feeble ray of light upon the subject, I modestly offer the following communication for your columns.

When in Lexington some months ago, I made diligent inquiries of those best informed upon the subject, inspected most of the numerous drawings and monels, and must confess that I was highly delighted to find such unanimity unon several points upon which my own mind had settled down as cardinal points in the whole operation. They were-1st. That the monument should include and protect a marbie bust at least, or, still better, a marble statue of the illustrious dead. Hart's, as a distinguished and finished Kentucky artist, was of course in my mind. 2d. Of course, and as a necessity, something in the form of a mausoleum, to shelter it from the weather. And 3d. And, almost as much a matter of course, something in the Gothic form.

My own preference preponderated vastly in favor of something like the Edinboro' monument to Sir Walter Scott, which, beautiful as it appears in a drawing, I have been told by persons of highly cultivated taste is still more beautiful of highly cultivated taste is still more beautiful in itself. Not a few such who have traveled wide and far and seen most that is to be seen, pronounce it to be the finest monument in Europe.

Upon entering the room which contained it, Upon entering the room which contained It, my attention was instantly drawn to the design then partially fixed upon, of Mr. Hamilton, as being not only the finest thing in itself, but the only one fulfilling most of the above conditions. At first, indeed, I did not take it for Gothic, but rather for Saracenic, though perhaps I have an eye as highly educated in Gothic forms as most untraveled Americans. A little close is pection informed me that nearly all its details were informed me that nearly all its details strictly Gothic.

But that closer inspection was far from being entirely satisfactory; First, on account of that very want of boldness of character which rendered such a momentary mistake possible. In glancing at the Scott Monument there is no such by us, just enough to make Mr. Clay's articles intelligible, involves an amount of meanness that no paper not lost to all sense of shame would be guilty of.

From the Washington Union we expected nothing better. We regard the editor of the Union as pretty much in the predicament of a man detected and exposed in an att mut to steal of Mr. Hamilton's design were adopted, in my judgment an indispensable corollary from it would be the investment of one-fifth or one tenth of the whole fund 'o defray the cost of repairs, and the creation of a perpetual corporation to take charge of them. And even then, the end of the whole thing would be the loss of the fund, the death of the trustees, and the speedy idation of the monument

I do not then entirely agree with the article in your paper of the 2d inst., so far as to regret that the partial decision in favor of Mr. H.'s design aas not been confirmed.

And whilst I fully agree with you as to the loftiness, grandeur, and magnificence of the Monument to which Mr. Clay is entitled, and in the opinion that the nation is fully prepared to contribute almost any amount for that purpose were proper measures set on foot to draw forth those contributions even to the extent of $150, 000, which is said to have been the cost of Sir Walter Scott's monument; yet I must confess that my higher moral sense, would, by such an expenditure, be as much shocked by needless extravagance in one direction, as yours seems to have been, in an opposite direction, by a lofty and noble apprehension of meanness and parsimony, or even the possible suspicion of them.

I believe a monument, very much like that of Scott's, only more taper and graceful-more in the proportion of the tower and spire of St. Stephen's Church in Vienna, or of Trinty Church, New York, or Dr. Potts's Church, New York—all of which are massive stone to the very top of the cross-could be erected with a base of 20 or 30 feet and a height of two or three hundred, for less tha $50,000.

THESDAY EVENING. AUG. 7, 1855.

We did what we could by our own personal exertions on Monday to quell the violent feelings prevalent in the city. Early in the afternoon we went to the First ward polls, and, being received with loud acclamations by the large crowd there, we addressed a few words ting, and with shooting and killing Americans 16 the assemblage, earnestly beseeching all our friends to deport themselves peaceably, to show themselves the guardians of good order, and to let no obstacle be offered to any political opponent who wished to record his vote. Having heard declarations from the crowd that the Roman Catholic church in that part of the city was edifice was contemplated, we appealed to them by every consideration that could touch the human heart not to disgrace themselves, their parby, and the American name, by the perpetration of such a deed of shame and infamy. From the general response of those present, we have reason to conclude that our humble appeal was not without its effect.

A little before 10 o'clock at night, some gen-Wemen came to our dwelling-house in great traste to say that a mob was on its way to the office of the Louisville Times with the avowed determination of demolishing it, and that our office, but the crowd, to the number of four or five hundred, was there before us, and our junior editor was making a strong appeal to them against the destruction of private property .-Bélieving that we might, from our position though not from any talent as a speaker, exert a salutary influence upon the multitude, we exhorted them, in the very strongest terms we could command, to disperse and do no violence. Instantly they left the spot and repaired to our own office, but we did not accompany them

We detest and scorn and abhor mob-law just as much to-day as we did when we seemed likely to be its victim, and we wish to be considered as repeating most emphatically every term of denunciation in relation to it that we ottered then. If a man feels himself intolerably insulted or injured or outraged by an individual, let him, single-handed, seek redress, but Let all honest men, all brave men, all good men, turn with bitter loathing from the infamous thought of uniting with a mob to destroy the property of private persons in which innocent wives and sons and daughters may have an interest, and from the destruction of which they may be the greatest sufferers.

We publish with great pleasure the letter from our esteemed friend Bishop Spalding and the card of Messrs. Barbee, Riley, and Gilliss, while at the same time we think it altogether unnecessary. We have no idea that any attack was contemplated on the Cathedral. We heard a highly respectable gentleman say that during an extensive walk over the city last night he saw but one man who spoke of going to the Cathedrai, and he at once relinquished his intention when he was assured that there was not the least reason in the world for supposing arms or men were secreted in that building.

BISHOP SPALDING'S CARD .- We publish with pleasure Bishop Splading's card to the public. We have not, in aught we have written, intended to make any imputation upon him. We have not for one moment suspected him of instigating men to riot and bloodshed. We have felt grateful to him for the services he rendered upwards of a year ago in allaying public excitement, to the extent of his influence, when our own property was thought to be in danger from a mob, and we have never thought him otherwise than as the friend of law and order.

We take it for granted that the Coroner will summon a jury for the inquest to-day from among the leading and most esteemed citizens of the city and county. By all means let men be selected in whom the tublic both at home and abroad will have the fullest confidence. With a jury of men well known as honest, dispassionate, and jsut, the community will be satisfied that the result of the inquest will place the responsibility for the terrible tragedy which has occurred here where it properly belongs.

We are requested by the Mayor, Mr. Barbee, to announce to the public that Bishop Spaulding has surrendered to him the keys of the Cathedral and placed it under his protection. Mr. Barbee asks us to say, that, there being reports in circulation that weapons have been collected in the Cathedral, he himself has ascertained by personal inspection that there is not a weapon in it.

MR. JOHN W. WALTON .- A report is in circulation that this gentleman was shot at the First ward on yesterday. This is incorrect. He was bacly bruised, but not shot.

PROCLAMATION.

I, John Barbee, Mayor of the city of Louis-ville, do make this my proclamation requiring all good citizens to aid in preserving the peace of the city by personal assistance to the po-lice when called on by any of them for that purpose, under the penalty prescribed by law for refusal.

I do further forewarn all viciously disposed persons from assembling for the purpose of doing mischief to persons or property and notify them that a sufficient force will be organized to put down all unlawful violence, with anthority, in accordance with law, to use weapone, if ne-

I further recommend all parents and masters to keep their sons or apprentices out of the streets, especially aft r dark, and enjoin the police to arrest a.l he ye found in the streets violating and making a noise.

EVENTS OF THIS FORENCON .- At an early nour, a large crowd of people, anxious and excited, filled the grounds around the two courthouses, corner of Sixth and Jefferson streets, and about the jail, eager to witness the events of the judicial investigations to take place, see the Irish prisoners charged with shooting the Americans in the first ward from the windows of hou ses some quarter of a mile from the place of vofrom the windows of houses in the eighth ward, some two squares from the polls.

The City Judge thought proper not to enter upon the investigation of the cases, but allowed permits to be given to the wounded for the hospital, and took other proper steps with the accused, so as to secure a fair and dispassionate filled with arms, and that an attack upon that trial, after proper time allowed to collect the testimony.

The Mayor, whose exertions for peace have been energetic and unremitted, caused a committee, consisting of a large number of orderly and quiet citizens, to be formed to circulate among the people, to calm excitement, and induce them to return to their homes and to their business. The efforts of these gentlemen were prompt and not without success. They prepared the minds of the crowd to give an attentive hearing to an affecting, able, and eloquent appeal made by the Hon. W. F. Bullock, which, from the stand in the court-house yard, was followed by a few friends were of opinion that we could save it. feeling, soothing, and kind remarks from Gen. We ran with our utmost speed to the Times Pilcher, who was loudly called for. Gen. P. moved, upon many seconding voices, that the people there assembled should one and all retire to their respective homes and business pursuits; wnich motion was put and carried by acclamation; and all seemed order and quiet in that part of the city at 101 o'clock, A. M.

> POSTAGE STATISTICS .- The following is a for letter postage at the principal cities in the United States, during the years ending 31st March, 1853, and 1855. To make it more intelligible, the population in 1850 and the increase per cent, are also given:

Post-offices.	Pop. 1850.	Let. Post. 1853.	Let. Post. 1855.	Inc.

PARISH RECORDS.—The following notes have been recently taken from the records of the old church in Andover, Massachusetts:

January 17th, 1712. Voted (under protest)y those persons who have pews sit with their wives. November 10th, 1713. Granted to Richard Barker four shillings for his extraordinary trou ble in sweeping our meeting house ye past year.

March 17th, 1776. Voted, that a 1 English women in the parish who marry or assem-ble with negro or mulatto men be seated in the meeting house with the negro women.

CARD OF BISHOP SPALDING. TO THE PUBLIC.

FELLOW-CITIZENS: In the Louisville Journal of this morning I find the following passage: "We are not now prepared to say that they (assaults committed by foreigners) • • • were instigated by direct instructions of men with fiendish hearts who control in a great measure the passions, and are able to dictate actions to the Germans; nd hish, who made these attacks.'

If-as some have understood it-this passage was meant to refer to the Catholic Bishop and Priests of this city, I beg respectfully, but most distinctly and earnestly to deny the truth of the injurious insinuation conveyed by its language. I have myself been, until the last day or two, confined to my room for two weeks by illness, and I have the most positive information that none of the Catholic clergy of this city have had any agency, direct or indirect, in bringing about the recent lamentable outrages, which no one deplores more than we do Our voice has been uniformly for peace. We have not even in any way interfered in the late election, being over whelmed with laborious duties in a diff rent sphere altogether. I venture also to appeal to the sense of justice and farmess manifested for so many years by the editor of the Journal, and to ask him to correct this impression so injurious to us, if such was the meaning of the passage—which I would be toath to believe.

To all whom the influence of my oice can in any way reach, I beg to say that I entreat them in the name of Jesus Christ, the God of Peace. in the name of Jesus Christ, the God of Peace, to abstain from all violence, to remain quietly at home or attending to their business, to keep away from all excited assemblies, and if they think they have been injured to return g oof for evil, and to pray for thise who have wronged them. I appeal to them and to the world whether this has not been always the tenor of my instructions to them, both public and private, and also that of all the Catholic clergy.

I have too high an opinion of my fellow-citizens of every class to believe for a moment that the threats which have been made by som-will be carried out. I entreat an to pause and reflect, to commit no violence which they would regret in their cooler moments, to believe no idle rumors, and to cultivate that perce and love which are the characteristic of the religion of Christ. We are to remain on each but a fe years; let us not add to the necessary ilis of life those more awful ones of civil fends and bloody civil fends and bloody M J. SPALDING.

Louisville, Aug 7, 1855.

TO THE PUBLIC. We, the undersigned, have in person carefully examined the Ca hedral, and do as are the community that there are neither men nor-arms concealed therein; and further that the keys of said Cathedral, on Fifth street, are in the hands of the city authorities

NEWS ITEMS.

From Central Asia has been received very important news, by way of Bombay and England. It appears that the Russian troops, who had long been stationed on the frontier, had advanced into the territory of the Khan of Khiva, engaged his army, and defeated a large portion of it. They were at the same time assembling in great force near Kokan, and it was thought that they would soon have the limits of their conquests in the East bounded by this latter place and Khiva. Persia was secretly aiding Russia, and the King of Bokhara was watching in alarm the quiet absorption of his neighbors, Khiva and Kokan, by the Northern Colossus. Philadelphia and Baltimore Central Railroad

We learn from the Chester County (Pa.) Press, that, of the whole portion of this road now under contract, being 36 miles, there are graded 151 miles-41 miles in Delaware county, and 11 miles in Chester county. From the advanced state of the work no doubt is said to be entertained that the grading and bridging may readily be completed from the Westchester Railroad to the Maryland State line by the first of November next, but as, according to the terms of subscription, the installments are not all payable until some time next year, this can only be effected by voluntary payments of installments, by stockholders, in advance of the times at which they are due. Several of the large stockholders have already paid up their subscription.

Flood in Winchester .- We learn from the Winchester (Va.) Republican that that place was visited on Wednesday night last by a terrific storm which flooded a portion of the town to the depth of two feet. The water rose to that height in all the houses situated in the lower part of the town. A considerable amount of comparative statement of the amount received property was destroyed. Among the sufferers are Messrs. Brown & Hollis and J. Liquel, tanners, and several merchants who had large stocks of groceries and wares in their cellars. The bridge on Kent street was torn up and borne away. At the railroad, the car-house above the ticket-office was stove in at the side, and a fine new passenger car greatly damaged. In two or three places between the depot and the second mile post, the railway was so much injured as to prevent the departure of the Thursday morning train for Harper's Ferry. It is supposed that much damage was also caused in

> A correspondent of the Milwaukee Sen tinel gives the following description of the great Black S samp of Ohio:

Imagine all the swamps in Wisconsin con-glomerated into one, with all the forests great and small, throughout the length and breadth of that State, mingled into one vast swamp, and I doubt whether it would compare for a moment with the Black Swamp. It reaches from Lake Ericto the headwaters of the Wabash, the Maumee, and the St. Mary, a distance of 150 miles, and its average width is over 30 miles, embracing over 1,000,000 acres of the richest land that the sun ever shone upon. Portions of this vast swamp have been subdued by the hardy pioneer, who has ventured to penetrate its unbroken forests, and the land cultivated by the persevering husbandman, if health is spared, returns a rich reward for his toils in overflowing granaries and bountiful harvests. The soil is a deep black loam, and is well adapted to corn, oats, and grasses, and the timber is the finest I ever saw. Hickory, elm, white ash, and black walnut all seem to vie with each other in their vain efforts to reach the skies; still all of them exhibit a commendable enterprise in rearing their lofty trunks heavenward. Straight as an arrow, and standing impenetrably thick, covered with water to the depth of from two to eight inches, and whose innermost recesses have never been trod by the foot of man, this forest is a sublime spectacle to look upon.

Our informant states that all hands on board the York, five in number, were knocked down senseless by the shock, and so remained for nearly an hour, when Capt. Clarke, one of the pilots, having recovered his consciousness, and finding his companions apparently dead around him, hastened to throw water upon them. He soon succeeded in restoring all but the colored boy, who was found to be beyond the reach of that usually efficacious remedy, although not torn in the least by the electric fluid. It was then discovered that the cubin was on fire, which Our informant states that all hands on board then discovered that the cobin was on fire, which it required their most acrive efforts to extingnish .- Norfolk Beacon, Aus. 2.

Attempted Suicide at Niagara Falls.—Yesterday, a lady staying at the Falls of Niagara, whose behavior had excited suspicion, was followed by some persons from Table Rock up to the ra ids, and then she had welked a short distance, she suddenly plunged into the rapids before her pursuers could reach her. One of them, however, ran down the bank, and wading into the water, was enabled o snatch her from the rapids as she was floating by towards the brink of the falls. To medical men the great advantage offer.d by the Retrospect is its embodying in a couland space all the cream of Medical periodicals, sparing thom the labor of waiting through many velumes filled with much trivial and unsuteresting matter, which must be percued in order to reach what is really valuable, and supplying them with a key by the aid of which they may find precisely what they require in any of the acattered publications of the day. To families and private individuals it is searcely less velmable than to the profession all reader, since, although purely and in the highest degree sefeatific, its contents are ye presented in a style so simple and unaffected that they are comprehensible to any ordinary intellect. AN AUTOBIOGRAPHY.
In one duodocime volume, ueasly bound in cioth. Price $1.

THE author of this interesting American nevel is among the most intelloctual of living writers. It required the genius of the author to have grasped, with such extraordinary force, the secuse and circumstances through which her story moves. No other writer could have thrown as strong an individual life tube place and locality. Her passiouste foariese usdure, her wild warm heart, are transfused into the magic world she has created, with such as intelling transcript of undoubted experience. The characters introduced into her work are flush and blood resulties. These graphic life reveilations have created a profeund literary sensation to qualed by any ether production since the appearance of the "Scariet Letter" and "Jane Eyre" and are "more talked about than any other novel of our times.

LATEST NEWS

THE RIOTS .- As we stated yesterday, there were several fist-fights at the different polls yesterday morning. Immediately after dinner matters assumed a more violent aspect. The first serious difficulty occurred in the upper part of the city. A couple of gentlemen were riding from a house by Germans or Irish and one of tall's 46. them wounded. The firing was repeated. Ed. Williams, a watchman in the Second ward, Joseph Selvage, and John Latta, Americans, went there. Latta had his leg shattered by a musketball, Selvage received several buckshots about his body, and Williams was slightly injured.

The report reached the lower part of the city that six Americans had been shot and were lying in Dr. Pyles's office. This caused the assembling of a large crowd, which proceeded up town. The first attack made by the crowd was on a German named John Vogt, in a house from which shots had been fired upon Americans, on the corner of Clay and Madison. He was shot, stabbed, and beaten. Another German, named Jacob, who was sitting on a staircase, was dragged out, stabbed, and beaten. His recovery is doubtful. Everything in the lower part of the house was broken to pieces.

The crowd proceeded to the corner of Madi son and Shelby, where firing from the houses had taken place, and they riddled two groceries. A German ropemaker named Hein, who was walking along the street, was beset by the crowd and terribly beaten.

The crowd then ransacked a German beerhouse, corner of Walnut and Shelby, kept by C. Kiszler, and two houses occupied by Germans on the corner of Shelby and Marshall. A German named John Feller was stabbed seven times, but not dangerously injured.

The next scene of the riot was on Jefferson street, near Beargrass creek. Here a party of gentlemen coming into the city was fired upon from the houses, and some of them seriously wounded. Armbruster's brewery and several houses were attacked, and the contents demolished. The brewery was afterwards fired and burned down, with several other houses. A number of window-panes in other houses were broken. Several Germans were very badly beaten, and an Irishman, named Patrick Murphy, was shot; he died this morning. On Preston street, below Main, John Sutherland, an American, was shot, but not dangerously injured, and an Irishman was shot and

All the German houses attacked were those from which shots had been fired by the occu-

While this was going on in the upper part of the city, several persons were fired upon on the lower part of Main street. About 5 o'clock, two Americans were shot from an Irish house, while going along on Chapel street. This at once brought the excitement to the highest pitch. The Irish row, on Main street, above Eleventh, was attacked and fired, and several persons were killed and some burned. A large number were wounded. The Irishman who shot Graham while he was taking care of Rhoades, an American who had been shot, was hung, but cut down before he died. At least thirty shots were fired from bouses on Chapel street. It is impossible to ascertain all that were wounded. Malvin H. Scott, American, has his arm badly shattered by a ball.

Seven or eight houses on the north side of Main street, above Eleventh, and two on the south side, were burned. A man named Richard Blackburn, who had hold of the pipe of the American Eagle Company, was shot about 3 o'clock this morning. The houses were nearly all owned by Francis Quinn, who was killed.

Later at night, one of the groceries ransacked on Madison street was burned down, and also two Irish cooper-shops on Main street. There were several German cooper-shops in the same vicinity, but none of them were burned. We are credibly informed that the mob had nothing to do with this fire.

There were some warlike demonstrations this morning on Fifth street, near Main, but better counsel prevailed, and the crowd finally dis-

We have given the above hastily and obtained the particulars from sources which we consider most reliable. The coroner has held inquests on the follow ing bodies:

William Graham, an American and foundery man, was killed on Chapel st. by being shot in the stomach on Monday evening, and died immediately. The shooting was done by an Irishman, who was shot and hung, but before life was extinct cut down. He died a few hours afterwards. He was buried, but the coroner will have his body taken up.

Theodore Rhoads, an American, aged 30, residing on Main street, below Eleventh, was shot and stabbed in the street in the Eighth ward. He leaves a family.

John Hudson, an American, residing on Green street, near Preston, was shot in the back of the head in the Eighth ward.

Powell Rothhaupt, a German wagonmaker stabbed at Schardein's precinct. Died in about eight hours afterwards. Leaves a family. Joseph Allison, an Irish Protestant, was shot on the corner of Market and Chapel streets. He and his wife had secreted themselves under a bed, but were dragged out.

The body of Francis Quinn, an Irishman, is deposited in the court-house. The coroner has not yet held an inquest on it. He was shot in he bodies of a man and a woman burned

There is one man dead in the hospital and two are not expected to recover.

There is also an Irishman dead in the jail.'
A German, named Jacob, corner of Madison and Shelby, is not expected to recover.

The coroner was summoned at noon to hold an inquest on the body of an Irishman named Pat. Murphey near the brewery that was burned.

> END OF THE WITCHETAW GOLD FEVR. SPRINGFIELD, Mo., July 30, 1855.

Your letter has just come to hand, and in answer to your inquiries about the gold mines and to have been found in the Witchetaw Mountains in the Cre-k Nation, it is all wind. It is true that there was 250 men went out in the first company from Southwest Missouri, and others have since followed, say from one hundred and fifty to two hundred men. The first company have all returned and found no gold, nor did they see any appearance of any of the precious metal.

any appearance of any of the precious metal.

There were some two dozen young men left this vicinity in the first train. They have all landed safely back—the last part of the crowd reached home on the 28th inst., safe and sound, but entirely cured of the gold fever. They say they are willing to stay at home with their parents until they laarn them better sense than to be carried off by every excitement.

The last trains that left here (poor fellows) are following on the trail of the first train, and will continue to do so until they land safely back home. The boys who left home wear rather long faces—their anticipations reached altogether too high, and the reverse is almost too
